

HAYEHWATHA SESSION – A BLESSING FOR FUTURE GENERATIONS ON EARTH

This is from a session that took place at the Hayehwatha Institute in Mt Shasta, California with Hayehwatha and two individuals, Bright and his friend, on September 23, 2008. Hayehwatha took them on a journey into the sky to be with his people. This portion of the session took longer than it takes to read it. To receive a fuller impact of what occurred in the universe during that time read it slowly and pause between the sentences.

I would like to work with the Grandmothers with you if you would like. Close your eyes. There are many elders around you. You call them the Grandmothers. They bless you and they nourish you. Feel their presence and feel their love for you. They know you and they accept you. Come and sit and close your eyes. There are in this little room called the temple many Grandmothers. They come to be with the both of you.

And when you close your eyes, you see not this room, but you feel your body, you feel your heart, and you are aware of your mind. And within this space, it is the space of the universe, and within that space of the universe, the Grandmothers come forward. And they surround the both of you. And they bless both of you. They take your hands, and you feel their love, and you feel their wisdom, and they know you, and they know your path upon the earth. And they support you in your path, and they walk with you in the days to come, and they believe in you, and they see your goodness. Feel what they know about you, and how they accept you.

And they lead you to where their people are, in a large circle. Go, go with them, for a moment, to their people, in the sky. Go. See all the beautiful, beautiful souls in the circle. And you go and you join them, and you become part of their celebration for the people of the earth. And you feel their happiness, and you feel their love for the people of the earth, and you are with them, and you are among them. You are accepted by them. It is a beautiful celebration for the people of the earth. See the love that they give to the people, and contribute your love for the people of the earth. Join them, be with them. It is warm where they are, feel the warmth, feel the comfort, and let that comfort, comfort your body where it needs comforting, let that warmth be there for a moment.

And now the Grandfathers come forward. And now they prepare a special blessing for the people on the earth. They go to the fires, and they speak to the fires in the sky. And they ask for the generations to come upon the earth, to walk without suffering, to walk without disease, to live in a new way, to be happy and to bring forth further generations without suffering, without disease, to live a full life upon the earth in a good way, with a good power, and a good peace. And so the fires of the sky agree, and you are there to witness this moment, you are part of this moment for the future upon the earth.

And now the Grandfathers with great care, with great gentleness, and with great knowing allow the blessings of the fires of the sky to gently enter into the souls of the future in such a way to bring about this possibility gently, slowly, with great, great care. And now they work with the substance of the earth, and they add that to what is being created at this moment. And there are beautiful waters upon the earth that they draw up to the sky to participate, and you are watching this moment. You are participating with these elders who are creating a goodness for the people of the earth in the days to come. You are happy inside. And with great care they work with these elements from the sky above and from the earth below. Great care is taken, great, great care. It is a special moment in time. And now they bring their work to a completion. All that was needed for this moment came forth to assist, and you participated to create it.

And now the elders turn and thank you for your presence, for your participation. And now they all rejoice for what has come to be for the future upon the earth in the days to come. And you feel their wisdom, and you feel the goodness. And now it is time to leave that gathering. You say your goodbyes. You feel their embraces, how much they love you. And you return to this room.

This will live in your heart for a long, long time. And little by little your lives will begin to be lived in this way. And now you are back in this room. And take the hands of one another, and hold your hands. You are most fortunate. It was a most fortunate moment for the earth, and the people of the earth, and a most fortunate moment for the both of you. And know that the Grandmothers are very close to you. And now you have both the Grandmothers and the Grandfathers in your life. They will always be with you.

...Describe where you went a moment ago. ...And where did these native people live? ...Yes, the Sky. And what happened there? ...And what were they celebrating? ...And the Grandfathers, what did they do? ...Yes.

They worked with the fires of the sky, and they worked with the earth, with her substance, and they worked with the beautiful waters of the earth, and they created a new time in the future for the people of the earth, to live life without suffering, and to live life without disease. It was a big moment for these people, and you were there.

And in the days to come that will be how it will be upon the earth, and that is the work of my people in the sky beyond. And they have a great love for the two of you, and you participated in that moment. And little by little that will be how your life will become as well, for there must be people upon the earth now who begin to live a little like that.

Morning, noon, and night my people in the sky work in this way for the people of the earth. For they see a different day than that which exists upon the earth. And you saw and you felt very clearly. And you saw and you felt what occurred up there, and you are right there were many children, and they will be the ones that will be born upon the earth to live in that way.
